CHARGE AGAINST PROF. FISHER

Principal of Littlestown Schools Charged with Improper Conduct toward Pupil. Demands Hearing and Denies Charges.

Littlestown was stirred this week by an accusation against Prof. Charles A. Fisher, principal of the public schools of the town, made by Elizabeth Sell, daughter of Charles D. Sell, one of the members of the town school board.

The girl, a pupil in the High School, alleges that one morning recently she went to Prof. Fisher's room in the public school building, after the opening of the session, and asked him to explain some algebra problems; and that after the principal explained the problems he drew her down into his lap. She does not state that there was any effort on the part of the principal to thrust any further attentions upon her. Prof. Fisher has made oath that the entire story is false, and has refused the pupil admittance to the schools. Unless her parents insist on her attending the matter will probably go no further.

After the charge was made by the girl the board was called in special session upon demand of Prof. Fisher. The young lady was not questioned on anything outside of her simple statement or accusation. It is rumored that she did not want to attend school this Fall, but that her father compelled her to do so; and, that to avoid attendance in the future, she may have determined upon this plan or scheme.

The room in which the affair is alleged to have occurred has a door leading out into the hall-way and opposite the room in which a class was reciting at the time; this door as all other doors, was wide open. The room, too, is only separated from another school room by sliding doors, with a wide crack between. The Principal's alleged actions could have been seen by that teacher or any one passing the open door.

The Adams County Independent in discussing the affair says:

"The open character of Professor Fisher has been of the very highest ever since he has been amongst us; it has been of the very opposite to that which the accuser would have us believe. The guiding moral evidence seems to be all upon the side of the Principal; there is nothing to support Miss Sell's statement except her oath. Under the circumstances, however, it was not easy for the school board to decide just what to do; and, as a result, the question was left open."

The accusing figure in the scandal appeared at school Monday morning and was promptly suspended by Prof. Fisher. If the young lady makes no attempt to re-enter school the Board will not likely re-open the case, it is thought.

RESIGNS

Miss Dock Leaves Forestry Service. Her Resignation Regretted.

Miss Mira Lloyd Dock, of Graefenberg, has resigned as a member of the State Forestry Commission after conspicuous service for over a dozen years. Miss Dock's resignation is due to many other matters which require her attention and there was general regret at the Capitol that the Forestry Commission was to lose her practical aid in the forestry work.

In July, 1901, Miss Dock was appointed a member of the Forestry Commission, being the first woman to be selected to that place and has left her impress upon the State's work. The appointment was made by Governor Stone and Governors Pennypacker and Stuart reappointed her and Governor Tener would have been glad to do so if she had consented to remain.

TOPTON EXCURSION CROWD COMES IN

Nine Sections and Figures are about the Same as in Recent Years. Town Ready for them.

Gloomy skies greeted the 4117 Topton excursionists on their annual tour to the battlefield to-day but that made no difference to the Derks Countians and they had their usual happy time wandering, hand in hand, about the streets of town and over the avenues.

Nine sections were used to bring the Pennsylvania Germans here on the Autumn Leaf outing, as it is called, and the number was about the same as for the past two or three years. No special incident marked the event. The revenue, which is used for the Lutheran Orphans' Home, will be a substantial life toward meeting the expenses of that institution.

The nine sections came in about on schedule time and are due to leave at short intervals late this afternoon on the return trip, the young people getting home before midnight.

Gettysburg was prepared, as usual, for the large influx of visitors. As early as six o'clock this morning hackmen had taken their stand at the Reading station. Souvenir dealers were on hand at different parts of town and refreshment places were about in ample numbers to supply all needs, though the Topton crowd is general known as "a shoe box lunch" assemblage.

The badge men were here with their display of medals and ornaments for which they found a ready market. Trinkets of all sorts were in demand and the visitors left no small amount of money in the town.

DISORDER AT FAIR

One Detective and Two Policemen Attacked by Rough Crowd.

The annual exhibition of the York County Agricultural Society, which came to a close Friday, was a financial success. The receipts for the week will probably exceed the expenditures by about $10,000. The attendance Friday was about 25,000 and for the week more than 100,000.

Several well-known crooks that mingled with the crowds Friday were spotted by Detective White and ordered to leave the grounds. Detective Pickles, who tried to stop the pandemonium which usually breaks loose on the midway just before the annual fair closes, was roughly handled by the crowd and he had to draw his revolver to protect himself from bodily injuries. Horace Fry, a fair policeman, was assaulted by a crowd of men and boys. When Patrolman Solomon Smith tried to eject several young men from the fair grounds Friday evening for a minor violation of the society's rules, he was attacked and severely beaten. His nose was broken. Detective Thad Sroman, who had charge of the fair police, was beaten on the back and head with sticks and whips.

FIFTY FOUR JOIN ON ONE EVENING

Parent Teachers' Association Meeting Largely Attended and Enrollment is Increased by Fifty Four. Business Transacted.

Fifty four new members were added to the enrollment of the Parent Teachers' Association at its regular meeting in the High School on Friday night. Every available seat in the large room was taken and one of the largest and most appreciative audiences of the association's existence was present. Dr. A. R. Wagner, who made the principal address said, in commenting on the organization that it was "the liveliest wire he has struck for some time."

The business part of the meeting opened at seven thirty with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the Secretary, Miss Maud Miller. The reports of the various committees were heard. Mrs. Edward Weaver, chairman of the visiting committee for last month, told of the committee's visit to the different schools and of the hospitality shown them by the teachers and the excellent work being done. Prof. Burgoon, chairman of the music committee, said that, acting on the authority given it at the last Parent Teachers' meeting, the committee had selected Miss Reba Miller to teach music in the schools, she to devote three afternoons each week to this work, and to receive $15 per month for the work. The instruction is given only in the Meade and High street buildings.

The excitement of the evening came next when the committee on "New Membership" made its report. About sixteen new names were proposed and when Rev. L. Dow Ott took the floor and said, "Make the goal for this month fifty", every member present—and few were absent—got busy and in fifteen minutes fifty four new names were on the roll of the Association.

The program which followed opened with a duet, "A Perfect Day", by Miss Daisy Wentz and Mr. Phillips. This was followed by an address by Rev. Dr. A. R. Wagner, who spoke on "The Child in the Home". Mr. Phillips again delighted the audience with a violin solo, after which the president of the association, Mrs. Wm. Arch McClean, called on the following to make short talks. Mrs. S. C. Burger, who told of the homes among missionaries in foreign lands; Mrs. H. Milton Roth, who spoke of the aims and purposes of the Parent Teachers Association, to guard the conditions that influence the life of a child; Irvin L. Taylor, who told several stories and closed with the recital of Longfellow's "The Children's Hour."

After the program, the president announced the new program and visiting committees for the coming month and the vote was taken to see which school had the most parents present in the contest for the banner. Mrs. Mary Wible's school was victorious and received the coveted trophy. A motion was made by F. Mark Bream and carried that Farmers' Day should also be "Tag Day", to raise funds for the music course in the public schools.

At the next meeting on November 14th, the association will elect officers for the coming year.

CHARGE AGAINST PROF. FISHER

Principal of Littlestown Schools Charged with Improper Conduct toward Pupil. Demand Hearing and Denies Charges.

Littlestown was stirred this week by an accusation against Prof. Charles A. Fisher, principal of the public schools of the town, made by Elizabeth Sell, daughter of Charles D. Sell, one of the members of the town school board.

The accusing figure in the scandal appeared at school Monday morning and was promptly suspended by Prof. Fisher. If the young lady makes no attempt to re-enter school the Board will not likely re-open the case, it is thought.

FIFTY FOUR JOIN ON ONE EVENING

Fifty four new members were added to the enrollment of the Parent Teachers' Association at its regular meeting in the High School on Friday night. Every available seat in the large room was taken and one of the largest and most appreciative audiences of the association's existence was present. Dr. A. R. Wagner, who made the principal address said, in commenting on the organization that it was "the liveliest wire he has struck for some time."

The business part of the meeting opened at seven thirty with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the Secretary, Miss Maud Miller. The reports of the various committees were heard. Mrs. Edward Weaver, chairman of the visiting committee for last month, told of the committee's visit to the different schools and of the hospitality shown them by the teachers and the excellent work being done. Prof. Burgoon, chairman of the music committee, said that, acting on the authority given it at the last Parent Teachers' meeting, the committee had selected Miss Reba Miller to teach music in the schools, she to devote three afternoons each week to this work, and to receive $15 per month for the work. The instruction is given only in the Meade and High street buildings.

The excitement of the evening came next when the committee on "New Membership" made its report. About sixteen new names were proposed and when Rev. L. Dow Ott took the floor and said, "Make the goal for this month fifty", every member present—and few were absent—got busy and in fifteen minutes fifty four new names were on the roll of the Association.

The program which followed opened with a duet, "A Perfect Day", by Miss Daisy Wentz and Mr. Phillips. This was followed by an address by Rev. Dr. A. R. Wagner, who spoke on "The Child in the Home". Mr. Phillips again delighted the audience with a violin solo, after which the president of the association, Mrs. Wm. Arch McClean, called on the following to make short talks, Mrs. S. C. Burger, who told of the homes among missionaries in foreign lands; Mrs. H. Milton Roth, who spoke of the aims and purposes of the Parent Teachers Association, to guard the conditions that influence the life of a child; Irvin L. Taylor, who told several stories and closed with the recital of Longfellow's "The Children's Hour."

After the program, the president announced the new program and visiting committees for the coming month and the vote was taken to see which school had the most parents present in the contest for the banner. Mrs. Mary Wible's school was victorious and received the coveted trophy. A motion was made by F. Mark Bream and carried that Farmers' Day should also be "Tag Day", to raise funds for the music course in the public schools.

BEAR ON THE MOUNTAIN

Conductor C. B. Funk, of the Chambersburg & Gettysburg trolley line, upsets the theory of many that bears are not to be found in the South Mountain by the declaration that one passed in front of his car, going Caledoniaward, about twilight Wednesday evening just as he was entering the forest from the turnpike. He asserts that it was a big brown bear, slow-moving and undisturbed by the car. Others say they saw the tracks.

WILSON'S TOUCH BLOWS UP DIKE

4000 MILES IN 4 SECONDS

Washington, Oct. 11.—A little electric spark, which originated when President Wilson pressed the button in the White House, was the silent agent which sped more than 4000 miles over land and under water and ignited the immense charges of dynamite that practically removed the last obstruction in the Panama canal.

Electrical experts calculated that within four seconds after President Wilson pressed the button in Washington the current threw a small switch on an apparatus at the Gamboa dike, which in turn set in motion other apparatus which furnished the current for exploding the charges.

Practically no ceremony accompanied the giving of the signal. The president, immediately after luncheon, went to the office of the chief usher, I. H. Hoover, in the executive mansion, where the instrument was waiting. The chief operator, K. W. Smithers, tested the line and sent four dots flashing through to Panama, as the signal that the president was ready.

Mr. Wilson stepped forward just as the hands of the White House clock touched the hour and pressed the button, flashing to Panama the current which was to send tons and tons of the Gamboa dike flying heavenward and perform practically the last act in connecting the waters of the two great oceans.

"Well, that's all there is to it," said the president with a smile as he turned away. "Gamboa is busted."

Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Tamm were the only other officials present.

The destruction of this dike permitted the waters of Gatun lake to flow freely into the Culebra cut, which after nine years of the greatest digging the world has ever seen is now almost completed.

While it was not an official holiday in the canal zone, everyone who could be spared from work journeyed to the scene. The danger zone was guarded by a strong cordon of police. Fourteen units of the Atlantic dredging fleet were successfully passed through the Gatun locks on their way to the Gamboa dike and began operations as soon as the barrier was shattered. The lockage took two hours and a half, some time being lost through maneuvering the vessels into position. The lock mechanism worked perfectly.

The Atlantic and Pacific oceans were not actually united when the Gamboa dike was destroyed and the waters of Gatun lake were allowed to flow into Culebra cut, as lake and cut are, at the normal surface of the water, eighty-five feet above the level of the sea.

The destruction of the Gamboa dike, however, removes the last obstruction to the navigation of the greater part of the canal by light draft vessels and opens up direct connection between the great Gatun lake, which already is practically ready to discharge vessels into the Atlantic through Gatun locks, and the Pacific division. The waters of the lake, rushing through the broken dike at Gamboa, sweep through the greater locks at Pedro Miguel, which mark the beginning of the descent from the top level of the canal to the Pacific.

The first craft to enter will be the great steam dredges, whose work is to clear and deepen the channel. The presence of small craft in portions of the canal, however, does not as yet mean ocean-to-ocean navigation.

ATHLETICS WIN THIRD VICTORY

Defeat Giants 5 to 5, After Hard Hitting on Both Sides.

BENDER AGAIN CONQUERS

WORLD'S BASE BALL SERIES.

Team	Won	Lost	P.C.
Athletics	3	1	.750
New York	1	3	.250

First game, won by Athletics...6 to 4
Second game, won by Athletics...3 to 0
Third game, won by Athletics...8 to 2
Fourth game, won by Athletics...6 to 5

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—The Mackmen won again. It was a close shave, however, for after the Athletics had hammered out six runs in the early innings of the game, Chief Bender wobbled and the Giants robbed his delivery for a total of five runs in the seventh and eighth innings. Then the Indian put on steam and retired the side, nudging two pinch hitters, without a man reaching base in the ninth. It was the tail end of the Athletics' batting order that won the contest. The bats of Collins and Baker were as silent as the New York rooters were after the game, but Strunk Barry and Schang were there with the yeoman service. The shortstop got two doubles and a single out of four times up and scored two runs and Schang singled twice, scoring four runs with them; walked twice for a perfect batting average and scored a run. Oldring was the only one of the upper set of batters who did any important clotting.

McGraw sent Al Demaree, youngest twirler of his staff and the last hope of the ex-Philadelphia, to the mound when the game started. He appeared to have very little, however, and after being pelted for seven hits, including a triple and a double, in four innings for a total of four runs, he retired from the game. Marquard took up the pitching burden—and some burden it proved to be right at the start.

After the "Rube," who seemed to have been too much confidence with the memory of the dropping which the Mackmen gave him in New York three days ago fresh in his mind, had gained a little self-possession by fanning Baker and throwing out Melius, the bottom of the batting order opened up on him as it had on Demaree and drove in two more runs. After that the "Rube" pitched good ball.

Merkle, who erred grievously in the field for the Giants with two bad muffs, both of which figured in the Mack run getting, atoned for his slips in the seventh inning, when with two of his team mates on the bags, he bounced the ball into the left field bleachers for a home run.

The hit put new life into his team mates and the Giants came back at Bender in the eighth, scoring two more runs on a single, a double and a triple. But the National leaguers did not have a look in when the Chief burned the ball over the plate in the ninth. The score:

SEE EARLY MONEY REPORT

President Is Told That Senate Sentiment Is Changing.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Word came to President Wilson from the capitol that the current situation in the senate was improving and that the bill might be reported from committee before Oct. 25.

While some doubt is expressed that the senate can pass the bill within thirty days after it is reported, the president is confident that this can be done. There still is a strong impression at the White House that Democratic pressure on the banking and currency committee within the next few days will force the Democratic members of the committee abruptly to report the bill favorably.

With a long list of witnesses still to be heard, the committee hearings continued on the bill. Former Representative A. F. Dawson, president of the First National bank, of Davenport, Iowa, generally endorsed the purposes of the measure, but suggested amendments to make it more attractive to smaller banks.

WEALTHY FARMER FOUND DEAD ON ROAD

Bullet Wound in Head and Gun Lay Nearby.

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—Samuel J. Waters, a wealthy farmer, who had planned to sell his livestock and retire from business within a few weeks, was found dead near his farm on the Buttleton pike.

There was a huge gunshot wound behind the left ear, and the dead man's shotgun lay beside him, with one shell discharged.

The police say that Waters committed suicide; the members of his family insist that his death must have been accidental, and it is admitted that murder is a third possibility, though there is little beside the position of the wound to substantiate this.

Friends of the dead man indignantly reject the idea that he was a suicide. He was known as the jolliest of neighbors. One man who has known him intimately for many years declared that "Waters never had a grudge in his life."

The neighbors said Waters always made money and was worth from $200,000 to $250,000. It was only three or four days ago that he told the neighbors he was planning to sell off his stock and tools some time around the end of October. He was going to have a public sale to clear the place out and retire and live on what he had put by. He was looking forward to enjoying his long vacation. He was fifty-five years old.

ADOLPHUS BUSCH IS DEAD

Famous St. Louis Brewer Passes Away in Germany.

St. Louis, Oct. 11.—News of the death in Germany of Adolphus Busch, president of the Anheuser Busch Brewing association, of St. Louis, came in a cablegram from Germany from his son, August A. Busch, to the latter's son, Adolphus. It read:

"Father passed away peacefully." The news caused a general feeling of sorrow, for he had long been recognized as one of the city's most useful citizens.

It is a coincidence that Adolphus Busch died during the celebration in St. Louis of the 100th anniversary of German independence. To the found for financing this celebration he contributed $5000. He was made honorary president of the German-American centennial celebration.

New York, Oct. 11.—Hans Schmidt, erstwhile priest and confessed slayer of Anna Mueller, whose body he dismembered and threw into the Hudson river, was indicted for murder in the first degree by the grand jury.

"That's good," said Schmidt, when told of the indictment. "I want them to hurry up my trial."

SULZER WILL SOON KNOW FATE

The Court to Take Vote on Monday Afternoon.

ARGUMENTS ARE FINISHED

Judge Cullen Advises Members to Keep Their Own Counsel and Discuss Case With No One.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The fate of William Sulzer is to be determined on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, to which time the impeachment court adjourned after Akon B. Parker and Edgar T. Brackets, for the prosecution, and D. Cady Herrick, for the defense, had finished a summarizing of the debate, which probably will be recorded as wholly worthy of this trial.

The forty-eight senators and nine court of appeal judges go to their homes for meditation, with an admonition from Chief Judge Edgar M. Cullen to keep their own counsel and let no one speak to them about the case. It will require thirty-eight votes to convict.

Leaving forward in this throne-like chair when Senator Brackets closed his appeal for conviction, Judge Cullen said, in the manner of one addressing a jury: "Before we actually adjourn I take the liberty of giving you a caution which to the lay mind may be appropriate. If this were a criminal case, tryable before a court and jury, it would be the duty of the court under the provisions of the code of criminal procedure to caution jurors not to discuss the case with parties, nor allow themselves to be approached.

"Of course this case is somewhat different. This is a court of which we are all equally members, but it seems to me that the spirit of the law is equally obligatory on us as it would be in the case of a jury. We shouldn't tolerate any one of us to be approached by a person concerning the merits of the case we are able to decide. We shouldn't allow it to be spoken of in our presence. Keep whatever your minds may be, keep that to yourselves and your associates, until we finally meet to determine this case at the hour to which we adjourn.

"I hope we will comply with this caution. It is necessary to avoid scandal, to give confidence in the proper administration of justice, and after a correct decision of the case, the next necessary thing is that people's proper belief that it has been decided properly and without the intervention of extraneous influence."

The decision to postpone consideration of the verdict until Monday was made in an interval between the end of Judge Herrick's summing up and the appearance of ex-Senator Herrick's summing up and the appearance of ex-Senator Brackets to close the argument for the impeachment.

Woman and Two Men Also Hurt in Attack on Home.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 11.—Turmond Duffield, one of a posse deputized to arrest Mrs. Ella Lampson, her husband and two of the latter's sisters at Walker, Calhoun county, died in a hospital here from gunshot wounds received when the posse attacked the Lampson house.

Two other members of the posse were wounded severely, and Mrs. Lampson lost her left hand. She was arrested, but the husband and his sisters escaped.

The attack on the house followed the shooting of John Duffield, who, Mrs. Lampson asserts, was trying to force an entrance.

FIND WOMAN'S ARM IN BAY

New York Police May Have Another Tragic Mystery to Solve.

New York, Oct. 11.—What may mean a new dismembered body mystery for the police to solve developed with the finding of the hand and forearm of a woman floating in the water of the ferry slip at St. George, Staten Island. The arm had been roughly severed at the elbow.

It was the opinion of the coroner that the arm had been in the water only four or five days, so could not possibly be that of Anna Ammiller, victim of Hans Schmidt. The hand and fingers were slender, and the nails had been recently manicured.

MEXICAN FEDERALS DESERT THEIR CHIEF

Mexico City, Mex., Oct. 11.—The failure of General Tracy Aubert to get to the City of Torreon in time to relieve it—a mission upon which he set out from Saltillo nearly a month ago with a large force of federal troops—is explained by the fact that the greater part of his 2600 men deserted him before he had completed half of his journey.

He had reached Madero, twenty-five miles east of Torreon, when news of the evacuation of the city reached him. As soon as the vanguard of the retreating federal troops came into view General Aubert's men fled with all their arms and ammunition.

General Alvarez, who started with 1000 men, two siege guns and a number of pieces of light artillery to retake the city of Durango from the rebels, and whose defeat caused the evacuation of Torreon, fled into an ambuscade at La Loma, thirty miles to the south-east of Torreon.

General Alvarez, who was regarded as one of the bravest officers in the federal army, was captured with his staff and all are said to have been executed on the spot by the rebels. After the battle the rebel troops, with the captured artillery, proceeded to Torreon, where they found that the federal garrison had already evacuated the city.

PLAN NEW RIVER IN WEST

Ask Government to Turn Its Panama Equipment to a New Purpose.

Alliance, Neb., Oct. 11.—A new great river taking its rise in the Black Hills of South Dakota, and running through Nebraska and Kansas into Oklahoma, may have to be placed on the map of the west.

The government is to be asked to bring its Panama canal equipment and organization into this territory when it is no more needed in the isthmus and to set it to work digging a river to make fertile a vast territory which now is fit only for grazing purposes because of lack of moisture.

Congressman, George A. Neely has prepared a bill for an appropriation of $50,000 for a survey and investigation of the project.

The new river would be between 600 and 640 miles in length. It would serve a dual purpose—bring water into a dry country and so divert the odd waters of a number of big western streams that the inundations that annually cause such damage to the lower Mississippi and Missouri rivers would no longer occur.

Aged Woman Burned at Stove.

A housewife who was puzzled to know how she could put fruit in the refrigerator and not have it scent the butter and milk by the side of it caught the idea of emptying out the basket into glass jars and putting on the tops.

DECISION AT PLATE COST ATHLETICS GAME. It was in the heat of the ninth of the second game. Strunk was on third and Barry on second. No one was out. Lapp, next up, hit to third base, putting Strunk in for the third time. Strunk, however, could not reach home. The decision was close. It could have been called either way. Unpire Connolly called Strunk out, the game went into extra innings, and Athletics never had another chance.

MEXICAN FEDERALS DESERT THEIR CHIEF

Mexico City, Mex., Oct. 11.—The failure of General Tracy Aubert to get to the City of Torreon in time to relieve it—a mission upon which he set out from Saltillo nearly a month ago with a large force of federal troops—is explained by the fact that the greater part of his 2000 men deserted him before he had completed half of his journey.

He had reached Madero, twenty-five miles east of Torreon, when news of the evacuation of the city reached him. As soon as the vanguard of the retreating federal troops came into view General Aubert's men fled with all their arms and ammunition.

General Alvarez, who started with 1000 men, two siege guns and a number of pieces of light artillery to retake the city of Durango from the rebels, and whose defeat caused the evacuation of Torreon, fell into an ambush at La Loma, thirty miles to the south-east of Torreon.

General Alvarez, who was regarded as one of the bravest officers in the federal army, was captured with his staff and all are said to have been executed on the spot by the rebels. After the battle the rebel troops, with the captured artillery, proceeded to Torreon, where they found that the federal garrison had already evacuated the city.

PLAN NEW RIVER IN WEST

Ask Government to Turn Its Panama Equipment to a New Purpose.

Alliance, Neb., Oct. 11.—A new great river, taking its rise in the Black Hills of South Dakota, and running through Nebraska and Kansas into Oklahoma, may have to be placed on the map of the west.

The government is to be asked to bring its Panama canal equipment and organization into this territory when it is no more needed in the isthmus and to get it to work digging a river to make fertile a vast territory which now is fit only for grazing purposes because of lack of moisture.

The new river would be between 600 and 800 miles in length. It would serve a dual purpose—bring water into a dry country and so divert the odd waters of a number of big western streams that the inundations that annually cause such damage to the lower Mississippi and Missouri rivers would no longer occur.

WILSON'S TOUCH
BLOWS UP DIKE

4000 MILES IN 4 SECONDS

Washington, Oct. 11.—A little electric spark, which originated when President Wilson pressed the button in the White House, was the silent agent which sped more than 4000 miles over land and under water and ignited the immense charges of dynamite that practically removed the last obstruction in the Panama canal.

Electrical experts calculated that within four seconds after President Wilson pressed the button in Washington, the current threw a small switch on an apparatus at the Gamboa dike, which in turn set in motion other apparatus which furnished the current for exploding the charges.

Practically no ceremony accompanied the giving of the signal. The president, immediately after luncheon, went to the office of the chief usher, I. H. Hoover, in the executive mansion, where the instrument was waiting. The chief operator, K. W. Smithers, tested the line and sent four dots flashing through to Panama, as the signal that the president was ready.

Mr. Wilson stepped forward just as the hands of the White House clock touched the hour and pressed the button, flashing to Panama, the current which was to send tons and tons of the Gamboa dike flying heavenward and perform practically the last act in connecting the waters of the two great oceans.

"Well, that's all there is to it," said the president with a smile as he turned away. "Gamboa is busted."

Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Tamm were the only other officials present.

The destruction of this dike permitted the waters of Gatun lake to flow freely into the Culebra cut, which after nine years of the greatest digging the world has ever seen is now almost completed.

While it was not an official holiday in the canal zone, everyone who could be spared from work journeyed to the scene. The danger zone was guarded by a strong cordon of police. Fourteen units of the Atlantic dredging fleet were successfully passed through the Gatun locks on their way to the Gamboa dike and began operations as soon as the barrier was shattered. The lockage took two hours and a half, some time being lost through maneuvering the vessels into position. The lock mechanism worked perfectly.

The Atlantic and Pacific oceans were not actually united when the Gamboa dike was destroyed and the waters of Gatun lake were allowed to flow into Culebra cut, as lake and cut are at the normal surface of the water, eighty-five feet above the level of the sea.

The destruction of the Gamboa dike, however, removes the last obstruction to the navigation of the greater part of the canal by light draft vessels and opens up direct connection between the great Gatun lake, which already is practically ready to discharge vessels into the Atlantic through Gatun locks, and the Pacific division. The waters of the lake, rushing through the broken dike at Gamboa, sweep through the greater locks at Pedro Miguel, which mark the beginning of the descent from the top level of the canal to the Pacific.

The first craft to enter will be the great steam dredges, whose work is to clear and deepen the channel. The presence of small craft in portions of the canal, however, does not as yet mean ocean-to-ocean navigation.

First game, won by Athletics..... 6 to 4
Second game, won by Giants..... 3 to 0
Third game, won by Athletics..... 3 to 0
Fourth game, won by Athletics..... 6 to 5

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—The Mack men won again. It was a close shave, however, for after the Athletics had hammered out six runs in the early innings of the game, Chief Bender, wobbled and the Giants lobbed his delivery for a total of five runs in the seventh and eighth innings. Then the Indians put on a scare and retired the last, including two pinch hitters, without a man reaching base in the ninth.

It was the "tail end of the Athletics" batting order that won the contest. The bats of Collins and Beyer were as silent as the New York rooters were after the game, but Strunk Barry and Schang were there with the yodelling service. The shortest got two doubles and a single out of four times up and scored two runs and Schang singled twice, scoring four runs with them; walked twice for a perfect batting average and scored a run. Olding was the only one of the upper set of batters who did any important clotting.

McGraw sent Al Demaree, youngest twister of his staff and the last hope of the expiring Giants, to the mound when the game started. He appeared to have very little, however, and after being pelted for seven hits, including a triple and a double, in four innings for a total of four runs, he retired from the game. Marquard took up the pitching burden—and some burden it proved to be right at the start.

After the "Rube," who seemed not imbued with too much confidence with the memory of the drawing which the Mackmen gave him in New York three days ago fresh in his mind, had gained a little self-possession by jangling Baker and throwing out McInnis, the bottom of the batting order opened up on him as it had on Demaree and drove in two more runs. After that the "Rube" pitched good ball.

Merkle, who erred grievously in the field for the Giants with two bad muffs, both of which figured in the Mack run getting, atoned for his slips in the seventh inning, when with two of his team mates on the bags, he bounced the ball into the left field bleachers for a home run.

The hit put new life into his team mates and the Giants came back at Bender in the eighth, scoring two more runs on a single, a double and a triple. But the National leaguers did not have a look in when the Chief burned the ball over the plate in the ninth. The score:

SEE EARLY MONEY REPORT

President is Told That Senate Sentiment is Changing.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Word came to President Wilson from the capitol that the current situation in the senate was improving and that the bill might be reported from committee before Oct. 25.

While some doubt is expressed that the senate can pass the bill within thirty days after it is reported, the president is confident that this can be done. There still is a strong impression at the White House that Democratic pressure on the banking and currency committee within the next few days will force the Democratic members of the committee abruptly to report the bill favorably.

With a long list of witnesses still to be heard, the committee hearings continued on the bill. Former Representative A. F. Dawson, president of the First National bank of Davenport, Iowa, generally endorsed the purposes of the measure, but suggested amendments to make it more attractive to smaller banks.

There was a huge gunshot wound behind the left ear, and the dead man's shotgun lay beside him, with one shell discharged.

The police say that Waters committed suicide; the members of his family insist that his death must have been accidental, and it is admitted that murder is a third possibility, though there is little beside the position of the wound to substantiate this.

Friends of the dead man indignantly reject the idea that he was a suicide. He was known as the jolliest of neighbors. One man who has known him intimately for many years declared that "Waters never had a grudge in his life."

The neighbors said Waters always made money and was worth from $200,000 to $250,000. It was only three or four days ago that he told the neighbors he was planning to sell off his stock and tools some time around the end of October. He was going to have a public sale to clear the place out and retire and live on what he had put by. He was looking forward to enjoying his long vacation. He was fifty-five years old.

ADOLPHUS BUSCH IS DEAD
Famous St. Louis Brewer Passes Away in Germany.

St. Louis, Oct. 11.—News of the death in Germany of Adolphus Busch, president of the Anheuser Busch Brewing association, of St. Louis, came in a cablegram from Germany from his son, August A. Busch, to the latter's son, Adolphus. It read:

"Father passed away peacefully." The news caused a general feeling of sorrow, for he had long been recognized as one of the city's most useful citizens.

It is a coincidence that Adolphus Busch died during the celebration in St. Louis of the 100th anniversary of German independence. To the found for financing this celebration he contributed $5000. He was made honorary president of the German-American centennial celebration.

HANS SCHMIDT INDICTED

New York, Oct. 11.—Hans Schmidt, erstwhile priest and confessed slayer of Anna Amulder, whose body he dismembered and threw into the Hudson river, was indicted for murder in the first degree by the grand jury.

"That's good," said Schmidt, when told of the indictment. "I want them to hurry up my trial."

WILSON'S TOUCH BLOWS UP DIKE

4000 MILES IN 4 SECONDS

Washington, Oct. 11.—A little electric spark, which originated when President Wilson pressed the button in the White House, was the silent agent which sped more than 4000 miles over land and under water and ignited the immense charges of dynamite that practically removed the last obstruction in the Panama canal.

Electrical experts calculated that within four seconds after President Wilson pressed the button in Washington the current threw a small switch on an apparatus at the Gamboa dike, which in turn set in motion other apparatus which furnished the current for exploding the charges.

Practically no ceremony accompanied the giving of the signal. The president, immediately after luncheon, went to the office of the chief usher, I. H. Hoover, in the executive mansion, where the instrument was waiting. The chief operator, K. W. Smithers, tested the line and sent four dots flashing through to Panama, as the signal that the president was ready.

Mr. Wilson stepped forward just as the hands of the White House clock touched the hour and pressed the button, flashing to Panama the current which was to send tons and tons of the Gamboa dike flying heavenward and perform practically the last act in connecting the waters of the two great oceans.

"Well, that's all there is to it," said the president with a smile as he turned away. "Gamboa is busted."

Secretary McAdoo and Secretary Tamm were the only other officials present.

The destruction of this dike permitted the waters of Gatun lake to flow freely into the Culabra cut, which after nine years of the greatest digging the world has ever seen is now almost completed.

While it was not an official holiday in the canal zone, everyone who could be spared from work journeyed to the scene. The danger zone was guarded by a strong cordon of police. Fourteen units of the Atlantic dredging fleet were successfully passed through the Gatun locks on their way to the Gamboa dike and began operations as soon as the barrier was shattered. The lockage took two hours and a half, some time being lost through maneuvering the vessels into position. The lock mechanism worked perfectly.

The Atlantic and Pacific oceans were not actually united when the Gamboa dike was destroyed and the waters of Gatun lake were allowed to flow into Culabra cut, as lake and cut are, at the normal surface of the water, eighty-five feet above the level of the sea.

The destruction of the Gamboa dike, however, removes the last obstruction to the navigation of the greater part of the canal by light draft vessels and opens up direct connection between the great Gatun lake, which already is practically ready to discharge vessels into the Atlantic through Gatun locks, and the Pacific division. The waters of the lake, rushing through the broken dike at Gamboa, sweep through the greater locks at Pedro Miguel, which mark the beginning of the descent from the top level of the canal to the Pacific.

The first craft to enter will be the great steam dredges, whose work is to clear and deepen the channel. The presence of small craft in portions of the canal, however, does not as yet mean ocean-to-ocean navigation.

DROP IN STEEL ORDERS

Big Corporation Reports Decrease of 219,683 Tons For September.

New York, Oct. 11.—The United States Steel corporation, in its monthly statement, reports unfilled orders on its books as of Sept. 30 last of 5,003,785 tons.

This compares with 5,223,468 tons on Aug. 31, a decrease of 219,683 tons, with 5,399,316 tons on July 31; 5,897,317 tons on June 30, and with 6,551,597 tons on Sept. 30, 1912.

Convicts Whipped to Death.
Mobile, Ala., Oct. 11.—Acting on charges of cruelty to convicts made against the Huxford Orvis Naval Stores company, Governor Emmet O'Neal cancelled the contract for convict labor held by that firm for the last two years. Prisoners made affidavits that men were whipped to death in two instances and that many prisoners were so badly beaten that they had to lie down to eat.

Lane Returns to Washington.
Washington, Oct. 11.—Secretary of the Interior Lane, accompanied by Mrs. Lane, Dr. Adolph Miller, his confidential assistant, and H. B. Mayer, his secretary, returned to Washington. Secretary Lane apparently has recovered from his illness.

ATHLETICS WIN THIRD VICTORY

Defeat Giants 5 to 5, After Hard Hitting on Both Sides.

BENDER AGAIN CONQUERS

WORLD'S BASE BALL SERIES.

Athletics	3	1	.750
New York	1	3	.250

First game, won by Athletics... 6 to 4
Second game, won by Giants... 3 to 0
Third game, won by Athletics... 3 to 2
Fourth game, won by Athletics... 6 to 5

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—The Mackmen won again. It was a close shave, however, for after the Athletics had hammered out six runs in the early innings of the game, Chief Bender wobbled and the Giants lobbed his delivery for a total of five runs in the seventh and eighth innings. Then the Indian put on steam and retired the side, including two pinch hitters, without a man reaching base in the ninth.

It was the tail end of the Athletics' batting order that won the contest. The bats of Collins and Baker, were as silent as the New York rooters were after the game, but Strunk Barry and Schang were there with the yeoman service. The shortstop got two doubles, and a single out of four times up and scored two runs and Schang singled twice, scoring four runs with them; walked twice for a perfect batting average and scored a run. Oldring was the only one of the upper set of batters who did any important clouting.

McGraw sent Al Demaree, youngest twirler of his staff and the last hope of the expiring Giants, to the mound when the game started. He appeared to have very little, however, and after being pelted for seven hits, including a triple and a double, in four innings for a total of four runs, he was tired from the game. Marquard took up the pitching burden—and some batters it proved to be right at the start.

After the "Rube," who seemed imbued with too much confidence with the memory of the drubbing which the Mackmen gave him in New York three days ago fresh in his mind, had gained a little self-possession by fanning Baker and throwing out McInnis, the horror of the batting order opened up on him as it had on Demaree and drove in two more runs. After that the "Rube" pitched good ball.

Merkle, who erred grievously in the field for the Giants with two bad ruffs, both of which figured in the Mack run getting, atoned for his slips in the seventh inning, when with two of his team mates on the bags, he bounced the ball into the left field bleachers for a home run.

The hit put new life into his team mates and the Giants came back at Bender in the eighth, scoring two more runs on a single, a double and a triple. But the National leaguers did not have a look in when the Chief burned the ball over the plate in the ninth. The score:

SEE EARLY MONEY REPORT

President Is Told That Senate Sentiment Is Changing.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Word came to President Wilson from the capitol that the current situation in the senate was improving, and that the bill might be reported from committee before Oct. 25.

While some doubt is expressed that the senate can pass the bill within thirty days after it is reported, the president is confident that this can be done. There still is a strong impression at the White House that Democratic pressure on the banking and currency committee within the next few days will force the Democratic members of the committee abruptly to report the bill favorably.

With a long list of witnesses still to be heard, the committee hearings continued on the bill. Former Representative A. F. Dawson, president of the First National bank, of Davenport, Iowa, generally endorsed the purposes of the measure, but suggested amendments to make it more attractive to smaller banks.

WEALTHY FARMER FOUND DEAD ON ROAD

Bullet Wound in Head and Gun Lay Nearby.

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—Samuel J. Waters, a wealthy farmer, who had planned to sell his livestock and retire from business within a few weeks, was found dead near his farm on the Burlington pike.

There was a huge gunshot wound behind the left ear, and the dead man's shotgun lay beside him, with one shell discharged.

The police say that Waters committed suicide; the members of his family insist that his death must have been accidental, and it is admitted that murder is a third possibility, though there is little beside the position of the wound to substantiate this.

Friends of the dead man indignantly reject the idea that he was a suicide. He was known as the jolliest of neighbors. One man who has known him intimately for many years declared that "Waters never had a grudge in his life."

The neighbors said Waters always made money and was worth from $200,000 to $250,000. It was only three or four days ago that he told the neighbors he was planning to sell off his stock and tools some time around the end of October. He was going to have a public sale to clear the place out and retire and live on what he had put by. He was looking forward to enjoying his long vacation. He was fifty-five years old.

ADOLPHUS BUSCH IS DEAD

Famous St. Louis Brewer Passes Away in Germany.

St. Louis, Oct. 11.—News of the death in Germany of Adolphus Busch, president of the Anheuser Busch Brewing association, of St. Louis, came in a cablegram from Germany from his son, August A. Busch, to the latter's son, Adolphus. It read:

"Father passed away peacefully."

The news caused a general feeling of sorrow, for he had long been recognized as one of the city's most useful citizens.

It is a coincidence that Adolphus Busch died during the celebration in St. Louis of the 19th anniversary of German independence. To the found for financing this celebration he contributed $5000. He was made honorary president of the German-American centennial celebration.

HANS SCHMIDT INDICTED

New York, Oct. 11.—Hans Schmidt, erstwhile priest and confessed slayer of Anna Annuller, whose body he dismembered and threw into the Hudson river, was indicted for murder in the first degree by the grand jury.

"That's good," said Schmidt, when told of the indictment. "I want them to hurry up my trial."
